"There are two kinds of spiritual laws, two kinds of conscience, one for men and one, quite different, for women. They don't understand each other; but in practical life, woman is judged by masculine law, as though she weren't a woman but a man."

"A woman cannot be herself in modern society. It is an exclusively male society, with laws made by men and with prosecutors and judges who assess female conduct from a male standpoint."

"A mother in modern society, like certain insects, goes away and dies once she has done her duty by propagating the race."

Henrik Ibsen in "Notes for a Modern Tragedy"
19 October 1878

The director, producers and cast invite those interested in Ibsen and his play to remain after the performance for coffee and discussion.
